

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for tour planning. The method comprising: creating a first schematic, wherein the first schematic comprises at least a first lane between a first accent point and a second accent point; creating a tour as an instance of the first schematic, wherein the tour comprises at least a first segment corresponding to the first lane of the first schematic; and assigning a load to the first segment of the tour.